The Emergency Alert System for San Diego County

AlertSanDiego is the official, regional emergency mass notification system for San Diego County, used by local law enforcement, fire departments, and emergency managers to send time-critical instructions like Evacuation Orders and Shelter-in-Place notices, to residents in affected areas. This system can deliver notifications via phone call to both landlines (which are automatic) and registered cell phones.

Why Should You Sign Up?

Feature	What It Does for You
Landlines are automatically enrolled, but YOUR cell phones are not.	Cell phones (mobile) and email addresses are not automatically included in the system. If you cut your landline or are away from home, you need to register to be notified.
Location matters, not proximity.	Alerts are sent based on the registered address you provide. If your home, work, or school is in a danger zone, you will be alerted regardless of your current physical location.
Control your alert delivery.	You choose how you want to be contacted: phone call, text message, and/or email.

What Does Signing Up Mean?

- You Register Your Address: You provide a street address (e.g., your home or business).
- You Choose Your Modes: You select your contact methods (cell, text, email).
- You Receive Targeted Alerts: If the address you registered is impacted by an emergency (like a wildfire, gas leak, or flood risk), you will receive a direct notification via your chosen mode(s).
